

Terms and Conditions Truly Feel Good

INTENT - Educational

The Truly Feel Good sessions and programs are solely intended for educational purposes. Truly Feel Good and its employees are not responsible for any potential damage as a direct or indirect result of using the content, advice, or interpretation of the program, sessions, web content, or email communication, and are not intended as a substitute for professional or psychological health advice, diagnosis, or treatment. Always seek advice from your general practitioner, psychiatrist, psychologist, or other qualified healthcare providers with any questions you may have regarding a medical or psychological condition or treatment before initiating any regimen, and never disregard or delay seeking professional medical or mental healthcare advice because of something you have learned in a course/program, email, suggested practice, community forum, or on our website.

Truly Feel Good reserves the right, at its sole discretion, to refuse access to a course or program or to terminate the registration of a person for a course or program at any time and refund. Truly Feel Good also reserves the right to cancel registration without refund of a participant who defaults on their payment agreement and to remove individuals from conference calls and community forums on Facebook or other platforms when necessary for the well-being of the group and its members.

Truly Feel Good also reserves the right, but not the obligation, to monitor the content of its course forums, social media pages, and websites and to remove material or messages that Truly Feel Good determines to be inappropriate, destructive, or otherwise offensive, including but not limited to messages promoting other companies or services, discussions not relevant to the specific course content, and/or hostile comments, and may remove such messages at its discretion and without notice.

Intellectual Property

Due to contractual agreements and other important factors, sharing course materials and access to the course website and Facebook group page with those who have not registered for the course is strictly prohibited. The only exception to this is in the case of family members residing in the same household.
